CHANGES

Coming to NCSSM as a Junior, everything was new: new teachers, new ideas, new friends, new home. During our Junior year, we matured a lot. The new friends we made introduced new ideas, changed our perspective, and influenced our thinking. We came to love one another and the school that made it all possible. Our view of NCSSM was idealistic; we wanted life never to change.

But when we returned as Seniors, older and wiser, we found that much had changed over the summer. There were new buildings: the new dorm (not quite finished), the Carolina-Duke Motor Inn, 1908 (that's Watts Hall to you juniors). Second Bryan had become a girls' hall, making Bryan the first co-ed dorm. Hill and Wyche were closed down, leaving behind only fond memories. The people we expected to be here had scattered and in their places were a new Dean of Students, a new Assistant Principal, new faculty, staff and Resident Advisors. In addition, there were 300 new faces to learn — the largest Junior class ever. The entire personality of the school had changed.

"The times, they are a changin'"

At first, the almost overwhelming changes alienated many Seniors from the Juniors. However, the gap closed and those people we once regarded as "goon-yurs" became some of our closest friends. By graduation, there were no real differences between Juniors and Seniors. Some of us walked across the stage and away from NCSSM; some of us stayed behind to carry on the tradition for another year.

*"I'm moving through some changes,
I'll never be the same.
Something you did touched me —
There's no one else to blame."*

ORIENTATION

The Dormitory Assistants and the Student Council were briefed on leadership as they worked to get the dorms into shape. Orientation Committee prepared for dances and assemblies, readied bulletin boards about eats, churches, faculty pictures, and so forth. We met with Lynne Donges, Student Activities Coordinator, who helped us put together information packets in preparation for . . .

Friday. The Seniors arrived. Even some of the faculty pitched in to help us do the hard work of moving in. The Senior Dance followed, in the basement of Wyche House, where the Class of '87 got reacquainted, rehashed old times, talked about how much things had changed, and wondered what lay ahead.

On Saturday, the 300-odd Juniors arrived. The Seniors pitched in for the moving, giving a direction here, a smile there.

Orientation continued with the helter-skelter mass confusion of the questionnaire-signing in front of Reynolds Courtyard, culminating in the first prize of throwing water balloons at the Student Council officers. The Director's Ice-Cream Social was held on the Bryan lawn, providing yet another chance for, well, socializing.

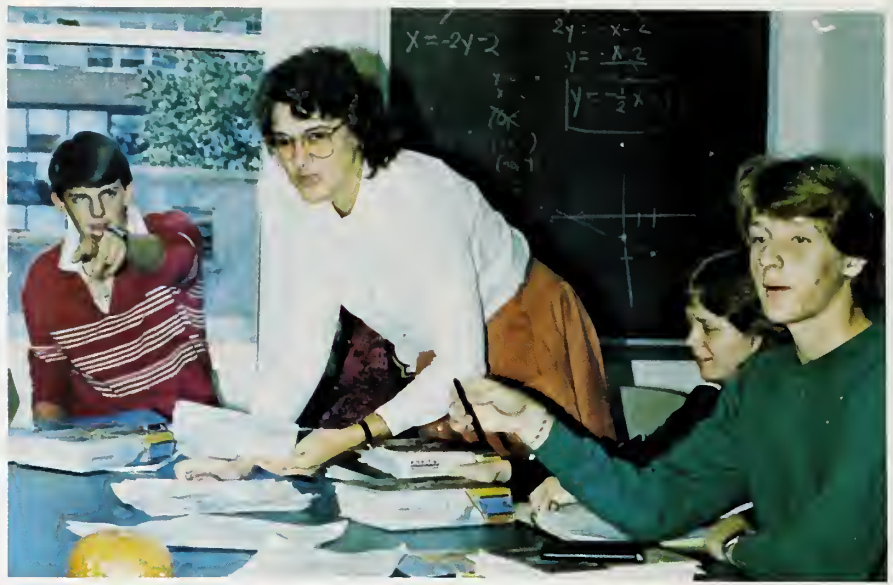

Student Council Symposium Day Festivities

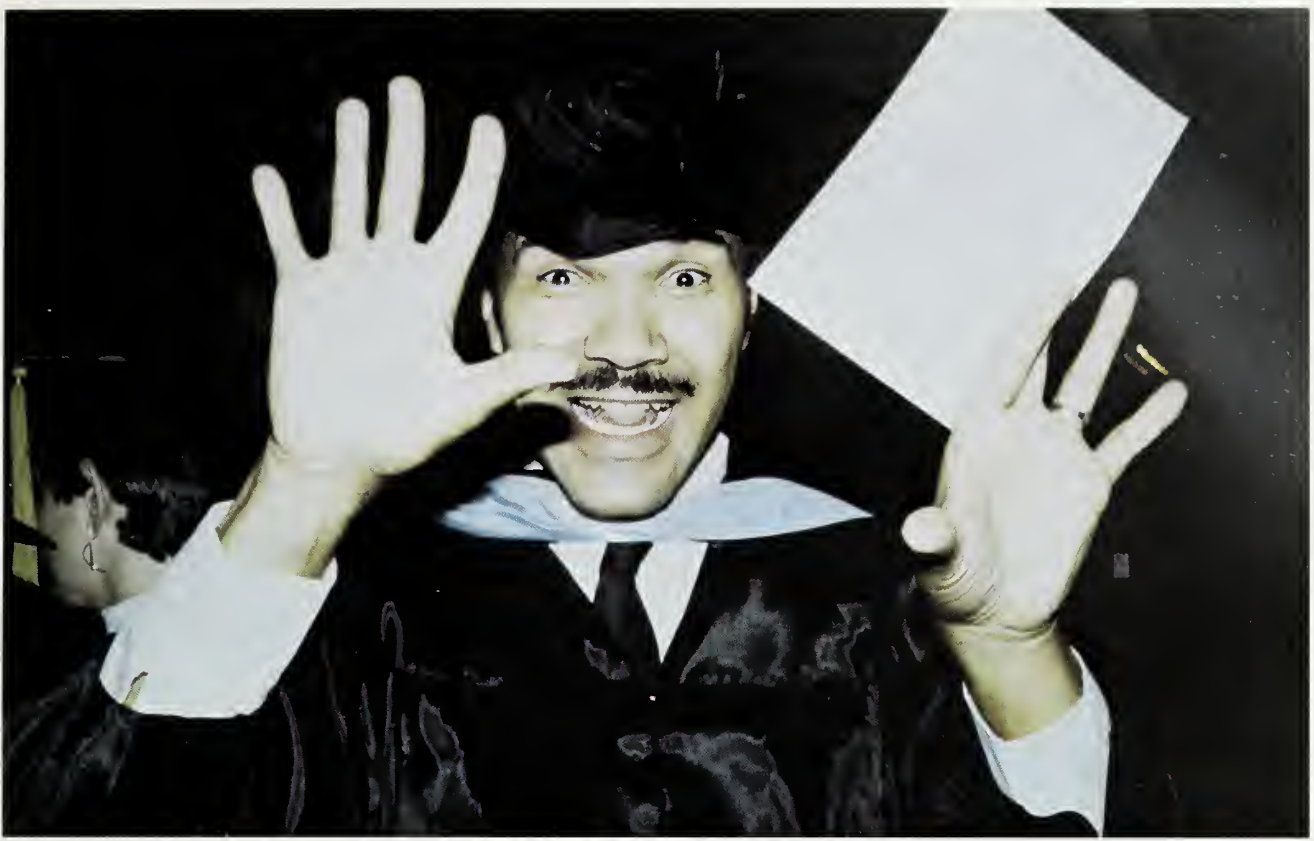

Mandatory Fun

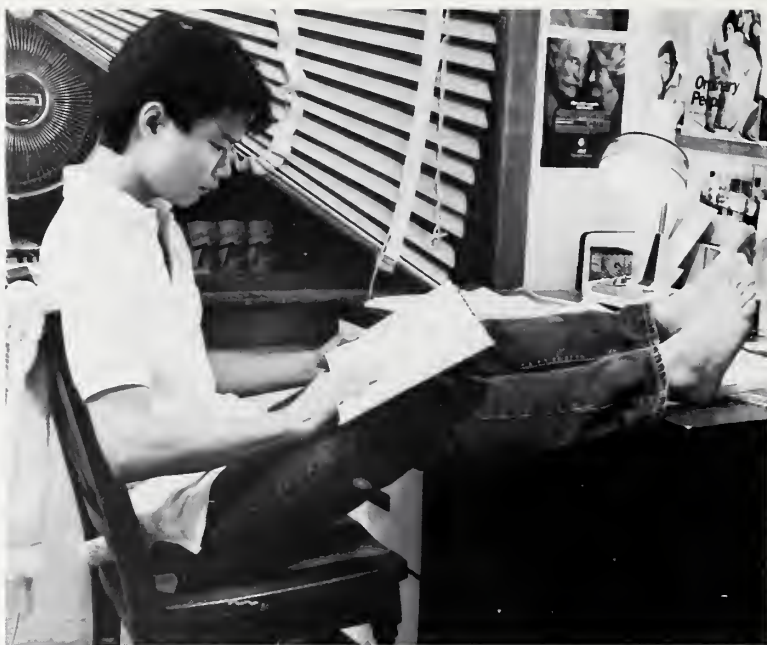

... Then there was the Big-Brother/Big-Sister T-Shirt-Signing Dance, the Junior Bus Loop around Durham, the exemption testing, first dorm meetings and so forth and so on as we plunged headlong into the daily routine, Orientation almost forgotten.

Students Are Welcome Guests

After having read numerous negative letters to the editor during the past several weeks, I felt that some positive remarks were in order.

The North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics has been using our facility as a temporary dormitory for 80 young men. (Construction delays forced the school to search for alternative housing.)

It has been an extreme pleasure to have had the opportunity to provide accommodations for them. We had no noise or behavior problems that one might expect from teen-age boys under such circumstances. We have had numerous college groups that were not nearly as well-mannered and considerate of other guests.

Our hats are off to the parents of these young people, their resident advisers, the school's administrative staff and, most of all, the boys themselves.

They have pursued their studies in spite of being separated from the rest of the campus and have coped much better than we could have imagined.

We are proud to have served the North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics this year and consider Durham to be very fortunate to be the home of this well-operated school of specialized instruction.

Civilizations which withstand time are those which both develop institutions to fulfill the needs of their citizens and prepare their youth to cultivate and advance those institutions. These efforts are ongoing since both the institutions and the skills and knowledge needed to develop them change. We are each transient stewards in the process. Structures such as The Watts Hospital serve as tools in these efforts.

This is a glorious moment. We have reshaped this tool and today dedicate it for the education of North Carolina's youth. In doing this we make a statement of our faith that they will be worthy stewards by their willingness to apply themselves in study and dedicate themselves to the tasks and responsibilities which befall the educated. At the same time, we honor and preserve the past by allowing it to cast the shadow of heritage upon the present.

On behalf of the faculty and staff entrusted this wonderful tool, I express our heart-felt appreciation, and assure you our best efforts in using it well.

CLUBS

NCSSM offers at least 25 clubs for students to participate in when they need an escape from the pressures of school-work. The wide variety allows students to develop a greater range of activities and gives them a chance to become acquainted with others who share their interests.

NCSSM has clubs with academic emphases, such as science, math, and foreign language clubs. It also offers clubs in journalism and the arts. The Chess, Wargaming, and Modeling Clubs enable students to participate in these activities in a club setting. Forensics provides students with opportunities for debate and public speaking. The Outdoors Club offers hiking and camping trips. Harambee is a minority support group exposing members to different cultural experiences.

All clubs are governed by the Inter-Club Council.

MUSIC

The Assembly Hall, renovated during the "year of construction," emerged as a gathering place for a large number of NCSSM students. A wealth of talent and intelligence can often be found within those brick walls. No, it's not the Math and Science Club. Without question, it's the resident musicians. Approximately 150 students participate in Concert Band, Chorus, and String Ensemble. These students take time out of their hectic schedule to practice two hours per week. Each student learns to perform with a spirit of cooperation within a unified group effort. And what an effort it is!

The highly demanding environment of the school can also be felt in the Assembly Hall, where groups perform only the most demanding pieces. Works by Sousa, Holst, Vaughan, Williams, Bernstein, and Handel are commonplace. Each musical ensemble performed during the Watts Hall Dedication this past fall, and all have at least two concerts annually. This year an active Jazz Band was started and has already organized a successful concert. In addition, many top-notch musicians compete for All-State Orchestra and Band, and Honors Chorus.

At the head of all this activity is the devoted conductor Ray Church. For the seniors, seeing Randy Foy leave was difficult, but Mr. Church made the transition easy. Although a change in directors had occurred, the level of discipline remained constant. Church constantly drives students toward perfection and reminds them of the work that lies ahead. "Now you're starting to sound like a band — not a great one, but a good one." No doubt, an outstanding group of people — Encore!

STUDENT ACTIVITIES BOARD

This year the school witnessed the expansion of the SAB. Lynne Donges moved out of the "SAB cubicle" into the "SAB Suite," more diverse activities were offered, and the Board was expanded with the incoming juniors. SAB continued to uphold the reputation it had started the previous year. The traditional dinner, shopping, and movie loops were offered throughout the year. Students had access to area baseball and football tickets, and movie extravaganzas in Bryan Lobby were commonplace. All of these distractions helped make life at NCSSM more enjoyable. New activities were organized such as: The Transactors, an improvisation show with audience participation, free bowling, and midnight roller skating. But the real hallmark of SAB was in the dance department. A New Dorm lounge offered ample dancing space. It all began with the Costume Dance at Halloween, continued with the Christmas and Valentine's Day, and climaxed with the 1987 Prom. No doubt, SAB is a necessary element of student life.

SPORTS

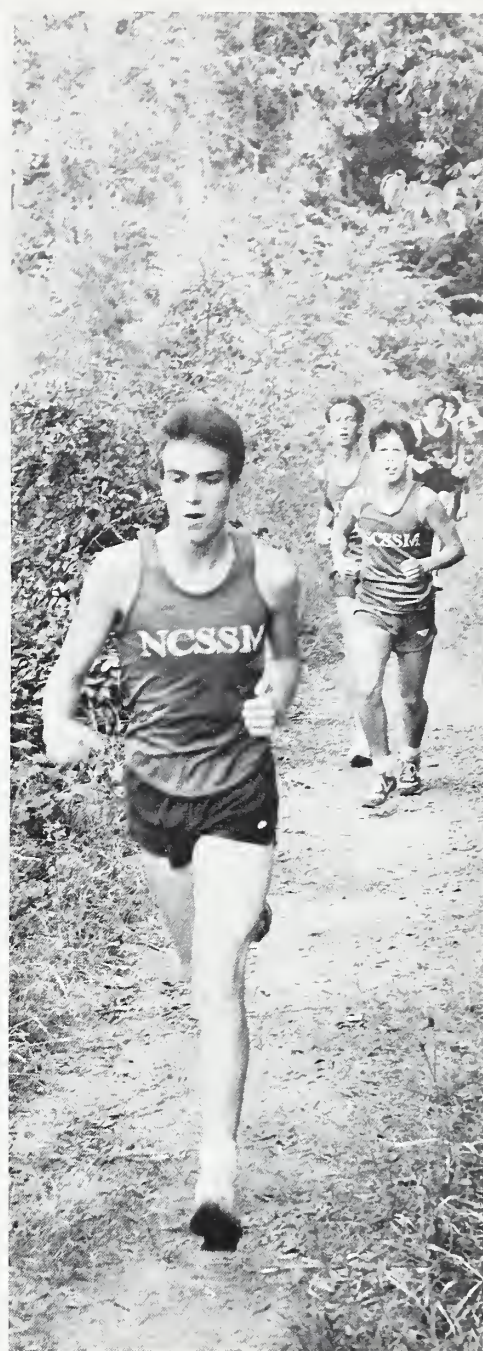

The 1986-1987 school year has been an exciting one for NCSSM sports. The year started off well, as the soccer team played at home for the first time on the campus athletic field. Large crowds consistently showed up at the games, and the fans' enthusiasm carried all of the fall sports teams to good records.

The swimming program was revived for the winter season, and the team did very well in its meets. The basketball and wrestling teams benefitted from a number of talented juniors. All of the winter teams have the potential to do exceptionally well next year.

The spring teams are loaded with talent. As the soccer, baseball and softball teams are playing home games on the athletic field, fan support should help the teams to great seasons.

As NCSSM's athletic program continues to grow and gain respect, one thing should be kept in mind. We are all true student-athletes, and what makes a season "one to be remembered" are the people who played on the team and the good times that we had.

Running for Success

This year, as was expected, the Science and Math Cross Country team fared well. Bret Barton, one of the returning seniors, and Steve George, a junior, led the men's team to a 13-5 winning record — second in the Mid-State Conference, 8th in the state — a clear cut improvement over last year. Todd Ashe and Sheridan Hopkins received first team All-Conference honors, in addition to the first team All-Conference honors awarded to Bret Barton and Steve George.

The women's team also performed well. Led by Joanne Promislow, and others, the ladies pranced to a 7-4 record — first in the Mid-State Conference, 3rd in the state. Promislow also earned first team All-Conference honors for her outstanding performance.

Runners Set . . . Go!

This year the girls' tennis team, led by senior Aruna Chandra, pulled off a strong winning season. This was a good building year for the team; out of twelve players, half were juniors. "All of the girls got along and worked well as a team," said senior Susan Queen. With such strong team spirit, practices helped each player's game. According to team captain Aruna Chandra, "I think everybody had a good time."

Team members: Coach Warren Basket, Manager Rachel Murkofsky, Captain Aruna Chandra, Elizabeth Cross, Laura Gardner, Jenny Goodall, Kim Lutz, Sun Park, Susan Queen, Kate Troelstra, Lisa Walbolt, Jana Watts, Deanna Wiederhold.

The men's soccer team, led by senior Co-Captains Knute Peterson, Mark Burton, and Ben Kirk, turned in another excellent season losing only once in the regular season and finishing second in the Central Carolina Conference. Despite many injuries to key players, NCSSM made it into the State Playoffs for the second straight year. The team was anchored by a strong defense which racked up eight shutouts in sixteen games. Knute Peterson, George Kwon, Hugh Howard, Mark Burton, and Steven Aldrich were recognized as First Team All-Conference players, while Sean O'Brien and Richard Kim were selected to the Second Team.

The wrestling team started its season with high hopes and determination. Led by senior Craig Sybrant, who placed third in the East Wak Classic, and seniors Lars Fuchs, Heath Graves, Stanford Lin, and Wes Schooler, the team mixed experience with eager young junior. Although this was a first year for some of the wrestlers, hard work and motivation have paid off. Third year coaches Don McClintuk and Matt Brown provided their experience during the daily 5:45 to 7:45 practices. With juniors Georg Bueler, Jeff Hoffman, Harvey Miranda, Bryan Stensvad, and John McMurray returning next year, the team looks promising.

Wrestling

BUMP! SET! SPIKE!

"Bump! Set! Spike! BOOM!" started every girls' volleyball game. This year, the girls were at a disadvantage because they started practicing later than any other team in the Conference. According to senior Lori Moore, "Coach Sherry Bartholomew was very dedicated and the team improved steadily over the season." Serving as co-captains of the team, Ellen Safrit and Carla Oxendine were also the team's primary setters. Everyone on the team, including manager Amanda McAdams worked hard at every practice and game.

Back: Coach Bartholomew, Erica Smith, Captain Ellen Safrit, Captain Carla Oxendine, St. Iron Croom, Danielle Bernard, Ann Dixon, Manager Amanda McAdams, Front: Julie Johnson, Erika Roddy, Gerri Daniels, Lori Moore

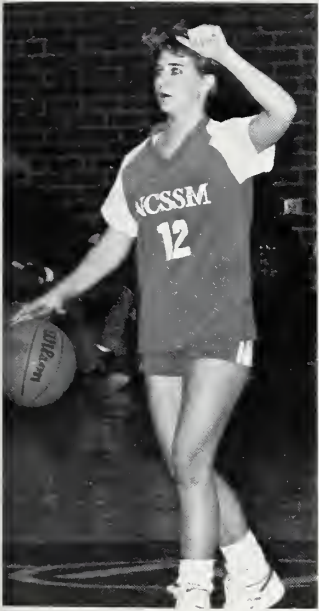

The NCSSM men's basketball team was optimistic heading into the 1986-1987 season as several juniors contested for places in the starting line-up. The team remained confident throughout the season as it came close to beating some of the top teams in the conference. Captain Tony Bauernfeind led the team and the conference in scoring for almost the entire season. Captain Steven Aldrich and Matt Mabry anchored the team inside, and Captain Dana Letchworth guided the team from the point guard position. The bench was often called upon and helped the team a great deal during many close games. Next year's team should do well, as four key players will be returning.

BASKETBALL

Loss of '81

As the season began, it looked as if the NCSSM women's basketball team was going to be in trouble. Returning only one player from last year's squad, senior Captain, Felicia Nicholson, the team had to rely on tenacious defense and hard work to make for the short time the team had played together. The team had a strong bench, with players being substituted often by Coach Kim Frierson. Unfortunately, both the guys and girls were hurt by a lack of adequate practice facilities. The two teams were forced to share one court to practice on for over half of the season.

SWIMMING

The NCSSM swim team was resurrected this year after a one-year absence and did remarkably well. The team placed three people, Captains Scott May and Neva Edens along with Terry Baggett, into the sectional meet. The men's team scored points in the regional meet, the first time any swim team from NCSSM has scored points. The men's relay team of Mark Heinze, Scott May, Dean Nestvogel, and Terry Baggett broke a long-standing NCSSM swim record at the regional meet. Next year looks promising for the team, as well over half of the squad will be returning.

ODYSSEY '87

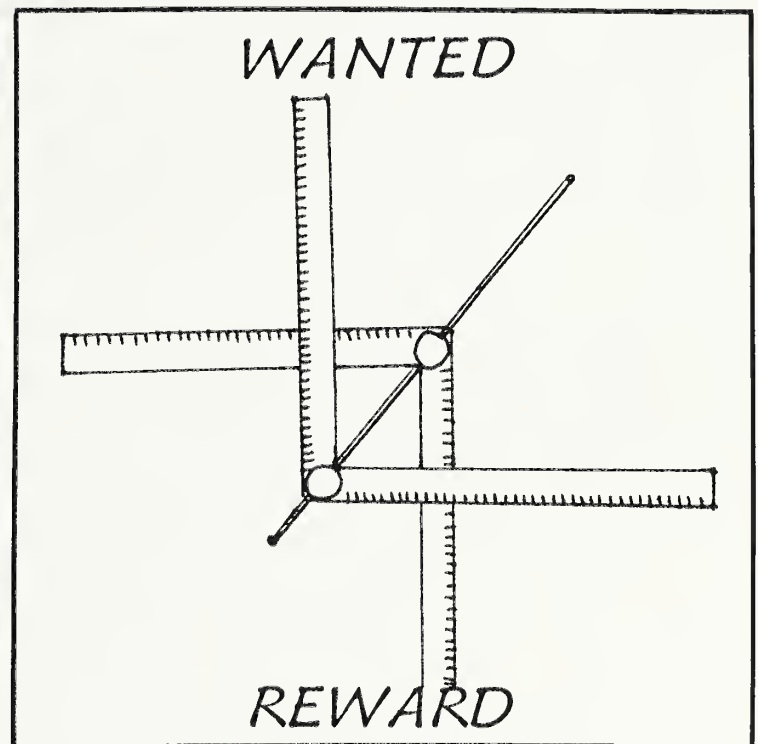

Putting together a year-book was a harrowing experience. Deadlines lurked everywhere, waiting in hopes they would catch us off-guard. Delinquent members (you know who you are) and a missing cropper didn't make life any easier. But the cokes kept us going during the grueling hours of work. Anyway — here it is. I take no responsibility for any really peculiar sections, and yes, the Senior section does spell out the Class of 1987.

— Elizabeth Cates
